BIOGRAPHY

In full-time practice since 1963 as a consultant general physician with special interest in cardiology, diagnostic medicine, as well as medico-legal assessments. I am an examiner for AMC (Australian Medical Council). I taught RMO's and registrars on my team on my hospital ward rounds and at times post-graduate doctors came on my ward rounds, as well. Clinical tutor for Overseas Doctors Training Program for the Australian Medical Council from 1994 to 1998.

I gave talks regularly at the Annual Scientific meetings of Auburn Hospital on various medical subjects. I acted as Moderator at different medical workshops. I gave lectures in the teaching program for RMO's of Auburn Hospital. I gave talks on Diabetes to GP's at Auburn Hospital.

As Head of Department of Medicine at Auburn Hospital, I was involved in arranging clinical programs and planning medical meetings, as well as rosters. I arranged the attachment for clinical medicine at Auburn Hospital for the students of the University of Sydney and for the University of New South Wales I was the supervisor for medical students coming to Auburn Hospital from Notre Dame University and previously also from the University of NSW and Westmead Hospital.

I planned the quality assurance activities to be carried out by members of the Division of Medicine at Auburn Hospital and I also presented quality assurance on specific topics. I planned meetings of the Division of Medicine at Auburn Hospital, which included peer reviews, morbidity and mortality reviews and grand rounds, in cooperation with other physicians. I organised Postgraduate Annual Scientific Meeting for Auburn Hospital. I held workshops on various aspects of ECG's given at RMO Education and Teaching program at Auburn Hospital 2000-2008.
